

The cross-ownership ban for broadcast stations and newspapers ought NOT to be lifted. There is little enough opportunity to get a diversity of opinion/coverage without the government enabling a monopoly on news providers. While I appreciate that this would definitely make it easier for the government to more fully control the news, lifting the ban would not serve the public interest in any way.